Few Points of Contact Between Latest Utterances and "Too Proud to Fight" Address.

(By the Sun News Service.)

Philadelphia, June 29.-President Wilson told 10,000 people at Independence Square here today that America has arrived at a crisis where it "should be ready in every point of policy and of DISPLEASURE EXPRESSED action to vindicate, at whatever cost, the principles of liberty, of justice and of humanity to which we have been de voted from the first."

He defined what he termed his persona code of governmental principles and declared that he is ready to fight for that code, "no matter what the cost."

"America is at a point," he said, "where it is more than ever necessary that she should not only understand her own ideals but be ready to put them into action at any cost."

WAR AGAINST MEXICO YET TO BE AVERTED. OFFICIALS DECLARE

Release of Prisoners Held to Only Modify Situation by Granting One of Several Demands Made by United States.

NOT YET TIME FOR MEDIATION

Carranza Must Answer Satisfactorily on All Points and Concede Right of Troops to Remain Across the Border.

The United States government is standing firm on the demand for recognition by Carranza of its right to maintain an army on Mexican soil to protect American life and property.

Unless Carranza recognizes this right and gives assurance that he will respect it, joining to this pledge a promise that there will be no repetition of the Carrizal and Paral ambushes, the issue between the United States and Mexico will continue to hold the nations on the brink of war.

This exposition of the Mexican situation was given in authoritative administration headquarters yesterday.

DIFFERENCES NOT YET SETTLED.

The release of the cavalrymen taken prisoners after the Carrizal ambush, officials said, falls short of settling the differences between the United States

It relieves the threat of immediate hostilities, as a refusal to release the prisoner would have been followed. State and War Department officials declare, by declaration of war. But it changes the situation only to the extent that there is one issue less to be settled, though the major issues remain.
